Plays and Players.

Winthrop Ames's new playhouse in West Forty-fifth street will be called the Booth Theatre, instead of the Gotham as previously announced. There has not been a theatre in New York named after Edwin Booth since he managed his own theatre here over a quarter of a century ago. The new playhouse is now nearing completion and will be opened the first week in September with Mr. Ames's production of Arnold Bennett's comedy "The Great Adventure," with Janet Beecher.

Billie Burke after a two months visit abroad will appear at the Theatre on September 10 in "The Amazons" on September 8 previous to her appearance in "The Promised Land," by W. Somerset Maugham.

Julia Dean has been engaged by Winthrop Ames for the principal role in "Her Own Money," a new American comedy by Mark E. Swan, which will be Mr. Ames's first production at the Theatre. The play will open at the Comedy Theatre on Monday night, September 1.

What next?

SOCIETY READY FOR SOUTHAMPTON BALL

Costume Affair in Aid of Hospital Promises to Be a Great Success.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 7.—There is every reason to believe that the costume ball to-morrow night in aid of the Southampton Hospital will be a great success. The marquee is in place and its interior will be done in green and white with an Italian garnish effect. The railings of the ball trees placed at regular intervals around the dancing floor will be hung with electric lights.

A buffet supper will be served in the clubhouse dining room and Mrs. Arthur B. Claffin has not only contributed the cost of the supper but she will also personally superintend the decorations of the buffet.

Several dinners will be given in advance of the ball, the largest by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brookway, who will have sixty. Mrs. Russell H. Hoadley, Jr., Mrs. Harry W. McKivier and Mrs. Harry P. Robbins have worked hard to sell the tickets.

Mrs. Albert Galtin gave a dinner this evening at Wythe House, in First Neck Lane. Mrs. Arthur B. Claffin will give a large dinner on Sunday evening at her villa in Shinnecock Hills. Mrs. Julien Stevens Ullman will give a party for children on August 10.

Mrs. J. McCallie Thomas will give a dinner at the Dunes on Monday for her cousin, Mrs. George Patterson, and Mrs. John Morris. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leroy will arrive at the Adriatic Hotel on Monday afternoon to spend the week.

Mrs. Rogers will give one of a series of dinners on Saturday, after which Miss Loraine Wyman will dine.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. De Forest and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ryan have arrived at the Irving House. Mrs. Edward Shearson gave a luncheon to-day for Prince Nassau of Rome, Italy, and Mr. and Mrs. Anson W. Burchard of Locust Valley.

Mrs. Harry W. Sage expects to go to Mexico soon. Her young son, Harry W. Sage, Jr., who recently underwent a slight operation at the Southampton Hospital, was able to return to his home yesterday.

Miss Ada Phillips and her niece, Miss Alice Conover, who are in New York, are in Bar Harbor, where they will remain a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Watson of South Orange, N. J., gave a dinner followed by bridge last night at the Meadowbrook. Their guests were Mrs. Harry Mott, Mrs. G. Hunter Brown, Mrs. Edmund S. Twining, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coppell and Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Franklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freeman of Short Hills, N. J., will give a dinner to-morrow at the Meadow Club.

PLAN TO PENSION CLERGY.

Suggested System of Episcopalianism Would Cost $500,000 Yearly.

The joint commission on the support of the clergy appointed by the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1910 has recommended a pension system which will be reported to the next general convention in October.

For retired clergymen one-quarter of 1 per cent of the total salary since ordination is suggested. This would approximate 50 per cent of the pensioner's average yearly salary. No annuity is to exceed $2,000, and widows of clergymen will get one-half the rate.

The commission estimates that $500,000 a year will be needed to carry out the plan.

Dr. Ungard Succeeds Dr. Hilprecht. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The University of Pennsylvania announces that Dr. Arthur Ungard, professor of Assyriology at the University of Jena, will arrive here in September to fill the chair of Assyriology left vacant by the resignation of Dr. Hermann V. Hilprecht. He will lecture on the tablets that form the Hilprecht collection at the university.

MRS. MORTON F. PLANT DEAD.

Wife of Financier Had Been Ill of Typhoid Fever Three Weeks.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Morton F. Plant, wife of the yachtman and financier, died at 6:35 o'clock this evening in her country home, Brandford House, Eastern Point, Conn. She had been ill for three weeks with typhoid fever and until this afternoon she seemed to be progressing favorably.

Dr. Harry M. Lee of New London, who was attending her regularly, had Dr. Frederick A. Lund of New York as consulting physician. Both physicians were encouraged yesterday by the fact that Mrs. Plant's temperature was lower.

Hemorrhages started this afternoon and Mrs. Plant grew gradually weaker. Her husband and her son Harry were at her bedside when she died.

Mrs. Plant before her marriage in 1888 was Miss Nellie Capron, having been born in Baltimore on November 10, 1865. She was greatly interested in charitable and educational work. Recently she devoted her efforts to the Connecticut College for Women, giving money for a hall which will be built soon on the west bank of the Thames River. Her husband gave $1,000,000 to the institution in 1911 on condition that $1,000,000 more be raised.

Morton F. Plant, who was born in 1862, was a son of Henry B. Plant, who died in 1899. The father left an estate of about $17,000,000, which in 1905 was estimated to have grown to $30,000,000. By his will he provided a trust fund, specifying that his widow and son each should receive $30,000 a year during their life and that Mrs. Morton F. Plant should get $10,000 as long as she remained the wife of the testator's son. The child or children of the son were to have the residue of the estate on the termination of the life estates and on becoming of age. There was a will contest, which finally was compromised, and Mrs. Henry B. Plant received outright control of one-third of the estate.

Henry B. Plant amassed a fortune in steam lines which he established along the Southern coast, in railway and other enterprises in the South. He organized the Southern Express Company and was connected with the Adams Express Company. After his death Morton F. Plant became a director in the various companies in which his father had been interested.

Mrs. Plant is commodore of the Larchmont Yacht Club. Besides her husband, Mrs. Plant leaves a son, Henry R. Bradley Plant.

Dr. Frank M. Todd, physician, was called to the house to-day at the home of Mrs. Plant, who was in a Packard.

He experimented with flying machines nearly sixty years ago with Dan Cuyler of Elgin, about whom Dan Rice of minstrel fame wrote a song, "Old Dan Cuyler and His Flying Machine." His theory was similar to that used by the Wright brothers and more successful experiments, but the problem was one of power.

The engine in the Todd machine was run by steam and had to be fired with wood. Dr. Todd leaves two sons, Frank and Charles, both living in Elgin, and a daughter, Mrs. Ella A. Billings.

DR. FRANK M. TODD.

Physician Experimented with Flying Machine 60 Years Ago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Dr. Frank M. Todd, one of Chicago's oldest residents and member of the first class graduated from the Rush Medical College, died last
